Ngala Parenting Workshops

Over the course of three days, representatives from Ngala hosted a variety of parenting workshops at the Rec Centre Meeting room and an informal MUMS/BUBS session. Thirty two participants came along to learn from these educators, enjoy a chat and have a cuppa.

Dental Van

Contact has been made with the visiting dental van to ask when they will be returning to the Bay. Unfortunately they have advised the earliest they may be coming to the Bay is September.

Customers with a Centrelink issued health care card or pension card can attend a Government clinic in Carnarvon or Geraldton, otherwise patients will need to attend a private dentist. Please contact Lisa Daw (from our visiting Dental Van) on 0447 854 272 who can direct you to the appropriate clinic.

School children needing dental assistance can attend the Rangeway Dental Therapy Centre in Geraldton but prior appointments must be made by contacting on 9921 4373.

Friendly Hub

Each Wednesday, with the assistance of some very special SBCRC volunteers, we run a morning tea at the Shark Bay Bowling, Sport and Recreation Club from 10am encouraging all ages to come along, including locals and visitors. A small contribution of $3 is asked for to cover the costs of morning tea expenses.

Our attendants volunteer weekly to bring along some delicious morning tea whether it be home made goods and treats or even just a packet of biscuits from the supermarket.

Bev, Janet, Bronwyn, Cindy, Corina and Julie are amazing people as they have continued throughout this entire year to volunteer and provide the morning tea, organise quiz and word challenges and much more so on behalf of the SBCRC we personally want to thank you. Your contributions to making this group a socially inclusive and friendly space is appreciated. It's people like you that inspire others.

Lately the group has been participating in weekly funny quiz challenges, games of bingo and recently the ladies from Palliative Care in Geraldton came to discuss their services. They plan to return in the near future and welcome conversations or providing information. You are welcome to call Robyn on 0407 949 040 to discuss their services.

Rec Centre

Our team of sports officers at the Recreation Centre has grown as we welcome Tianna Oakley in a part time role. She will be the friendly face seen on Monday's and Wednesday afternoons unless our new volunteer Nicole Rock is assisting or casual Sharna Timmer is filling in. Night time sports will now be extended to include indoor soccer.

- Monday nights - badminton
- Tuesday nights - indoor soccer
- Wednesday nights - basketball

Upgrading of town TV Transmission

The town's TV transmission (for WIN, GWN and the TEN network) needs to be upgraded from an MPEG2 to an MPEG 4 system. This is a required upgrade to ensure the continuity of the service, but unfortunately many older TV's are not able to decode the MPEG4 signal, and so will not be able to receive pictures and/or sound once the upgrade is completed.

For those residents and visitors who do not want to buy a new TV, a set top box (cost between about $40 - $70 from most reputable electronics stores) should be sufficient to decode the upgraded signal.

The Town's TV transmission was scheduled to be upgraded 30th June 2021. You may be required to rechannel your TV programs for WIN, GWN and the TEN network, as the Town's transmission is being upgraded from MPEG2 to an MPEG 4 system.

Discovery Centre Manager

We are really pleased to let you all know that Candice Uszko, the Shire's Community Development, has been awarded the Discovery Centre Coordinator role. She started on June 21st.

For those who haven't previously met her, Candice has been a Shark Bay resident for over 2 years now, and has regularly "helped out" at the Discovery Centre. She has a wealth of knowledge about the local community and has been involved with tourism projects such as a our virtual 7 day tour that we did last year, and the TV commercials that we ran in 2020.

Better Health Program

The WA Country Health Service is funding the Better Health Program for kids and families across WA. We are currently enrolling participants in our term 3 program. Shark Bay School News

Term 2 this year is a long one, 11 weeks of pretty intense learning and activities. We've pushed on through colds, nits, exams, rain, IT issues and kept the focus on caring for our students' learning and well-being. We're into the second term of our new learning programs in literacy in particular, and are starting to analyze preliminary data highlighting what a fantastic job our students and staff have been doing. For all that special events are valued, our underlying focus is on students making the best possible progress every day and setting themselves up for success in the future. Every day students are at school, happy, healthy and on time, and every well-planned lesson they undertake, every book they read at home and all the homework carefully completed, takes them on that journey. Thank you parents and carers for always being shoulder to shoulder with staff, attending meetings, helping your students and sharing your enthusiasm for their learning. A good school is a community and our community is you – so thank you all.

NUMERO Day

We enjoyed a day of workshops with NUMERO expert and educator, Julie Richards on 17 May.

NUMERO is a game that makes maths fun while strengthening skills in calculation and problem-solving and can be adapted for all ages and skill levels. It's been great to see continued enthusiastic practice since our incursion, which also included a session for staff. We hope to engage students and families in NUMERO and to find opportunities for our students to play with/against students from other schools.

Assembly 21 May

Thank you Year 4-6 students for your foot-tapping item 'Timber!' and for running Assembly so well.

Congratulations to the certificate winners on the day: Dakota, Harvey, Mikaylah, Jett M, Jorja, Isabelle, Madison, Kaylee, Ashayah-Lilly, Tiah, Telleisha-Rose and Kade.

School Council

School Council met on 18 May. Members reflected on Council's success in understanding and reviewing the schools' Strategic Focus and direction, and our success as a staff in sharing learning programs with families, as we continually seek ways to improve. We thank Rich Butterworth for his contribution to the Council and are sorry to lose him to Karratha. We wish Rich and his family all the very best for their move. Parents/carers interested in joining our School Council are warmly welcomed – please ask for more information and a nomination sheet at reception.

Learning Support

Students have different learning needs and an advantage of a small school is that we are quick to recognize students needing more support or a different approach. Every child is discussed regularly by the staff team, reviewing their happiness, behaviour, attendance, effort and learning progress and we work together on strategies to help where any problems are identified. We also benefit from superb support from specialist teachers in the region, who help us review evidence-based best practice, planning and programs and assist with specialist assessments to determine what will work best. This year we have also benefitted from more frequent visits from the school psychology service; our School Psychologist, Laura, is an expert in assessing students' learning needs and assisting staff to develop optimal programs for them. Our visiting team of Speech Pathologist and Occupational Therapists focus particularly on our younger students and aim to correct problems with speech, pronunciation, pencil hold, fine motor skills etc early, so as to get learning off to the best start. Please talk to your child's teacher or pop into the office if you have any queries.

Year 8+ Camp

Our Camp in week 6 of term 2 was for students in Years 8-10 who are starting to think ahead to possible future pathways for work or study. Our first stop, after lunch in Northampton, was a tour of the Port Authority in Geraldton, with lots of information on how the Port works, its significance to WA, job opportunities and the resident sea lions.

After that we had fun at Aquarena, a Thai dinner and games in the dark at camp school.

The next day was an early start for a half day at TAFE – we toured the Batavia Coast Maritime Institute with its amazing rare fish breeding program, the engineering department, art department, cooking and hospitality and much more, finishing with testing out the students' canteen and accommodation. We spent the afternoon at the Geraldton Museum and then enjoyed pizzas on the foreshore before the movie Cruella.

On our final day we stoked up on another cooked breakfast and then headed to Northampton District High School where the secondary class and staff made us very welcome. We enjoyed a morning of Volleyball games against and with them, followed by a delicious morning tea. We headed back to Shark Bay in rather nasty weather but it was the end of a great trip and our students were a credit to us at all times.

COVID and health

Like all schools, we follow Department of Education guidelines, currently for Phase 4. This includes heightened cleaning of surfaces, taps, equipment etc, on a continual basis through the day, as well as the usual cleaning before and after school. Many thanks to our cleaning team for all the extra work.

We aim to promote hygiene to students and reinforce handwashing routines. Despite this, germs still get around school and town in general and we thank families for keeping us up to date if their child has anything infectious. Nits have also been making their unwelcome rounds and we appreciate families' efforts in eliminating them; there's no alternative to regular, thorough combing, and we feel for you!!

We follow all current guidelines and know that the COVID situation could change at short notice - please be alert for messages, especially via Dojo in the first instance.

Lots of ways to learn.....

Come along and join in the fun!

Plastic free July at Monkey Mia!

Increasingly single use plastics are being restricted or banned, and for good reason! Plastic doesn't break down – it breaks up - into lots of tiny pieces that can cause harm to marine animals if eaten. Even before plastic has disintegrated into small pieces, things like plastic bags bear a remarkable resemblance to jellyfish. For animals like marine turtles that rely on jelly fish as a food source, eating a plastic bag can be a fatal dinnertime choice.

Kids can join in the fun “Plastic Free July” activities over the school holidays so ask at the Department of Biodiversity, Conservation and Attractions (DBCA) booking office or visit the DBCA Monkey Mia shop for more information.

Visitor fees apply at Monkey Mia Conservation Park, that help maintain the dolphin experience and visitor facilities. Visitor permits can be purchased from the Monkey Mia entry station or booking office. Your entry permit also includes the daily dolphin experience.

Denham residents are eligible for a FREE Monkey Mia day permit. Just bring your driver's license (showing your local address) with you when you visit and join in the fun! Please keep your visitor permit or a photo of your permit on you while at Monkey Mia.

Shark Bay Fishing Club

Research Scientist Dr Peter Coulson from Science and Resource Assessment at Fisheries (DPIRD) recently came to Denham to present their recent research findings using shark deterrents. 20 people came to hear the findings as well as check out the latest shark deterrents on the market including magnetic SharkBanz, orca whale mimicking noises technology (acoustic) and other deep sea electronic pulse options.

Title: Testing deterrents to mitigate shark depredation in line fishing across Western Australian fishing sectors

Funding: Recreational Fishing Initiative Fund and DPIRD

Project objectives: Project consisted of three components;

1. Survey recreational fishers and charter operators to identify shark deterrents that have been developed and currently being successfully used.
2. Test a range of shark deterrents during at sea trials to establish the level of effectiveness of each technique at reducing shark depredation during line fishing operations.
3. Series of presentations on project outcomes to recreational fishers in regional centres.

Results:

1. Survey of recreational fishers indicated that moving spots and stopping fishing were the main ways anglers minimised shark bite-offs. It was suggested people should move every 30 minutes.

2. Three deterrent devices were trailed, a magnetic, an electric and an acoustic based deterrent.
3. Tests were undertaken in waters around Exmouth and the Murion Islands and off the Montebello Islands with video footage also taken.
4. Deterrent devices did not stop the occurrence of shark depredation, but did reduce the proportion of fish lost to sharks.
5. The behaviour of sharks in the presence of deterrents differed and effect of the deterrent was influenced by shark abundance.
6. Shark species responsible for depredation included 5-6 "whaler" species and the sicklefin lemon shark.
7. Large cods are also responsible for fish bite-offs which was seen in video footage taken whilst testing was occurring in Exmouth waters.

Seagrass science inspires Malgana artist

Gathaagudu (two waters), also known as Shark Bay, is the traditional country of the Malgana people. It is also home to expansive seagrass (wirriya jalyanu) meadows. Two large temperate species make up over 4000 km² of seagrass meadows in this World Heritage site.

From far above the crystal-clear blue-green water has dark 'black' stripes created by wire weed (Amphibolis antarctica). Under the water the colour palette comes alive with the vibrant emerald greens of ribbon weed (Posidonia australis) and rich deep purples of sun-drenched wire weed.

Let us take you on a high-resolution journey to the surface of seagrass leaves and the individual cells giving life and colour within them.

The bright green chloroplasts are the engine room powering photosynthesis, while the dark pink to purple anthocyanin pigments provide sun protection to wire weed plants living in extremely high light environments.

Exploring the anatomical structures of seagrasses (and comparative works with eucalypt species) provides inspiration for environmental science student and emerging Malgana artist, Tiahna Oxenham.

In keeping with cultural heritage protocols, art works are created from plant material collected on Malgana country, keeping her connection to country alive.

Fresh seagrass collections were made in Shark Bay waters, with permission from the Malgana Aboriginal Corporation to remove plants from country. The collections included ribbon weed (Posidonia australis) and wire weed (Amphibolis antarctica).

A glimpse onto the surface of seagrass leaves shows the beautiful, repeated shapes of tightly packed epidermal cells – the cells that protect the leaf from the outside world. Vibrant green chloroplasts are visible in the ribbon weed cells.

Transverse sections were prepared from living seagrass leaves by carefully sectioning leaves to the thickness of a single cell, almost invisible to the naked eye, using a sharp feather blade. The thin and delicate sections were mounted on glass slides.

All sections were inspected under a high-resolution compound microscope to capture images of the internal cells. No staining was necessary to highlight the different cell types, as the cells distinctly and naturally fluoresce.

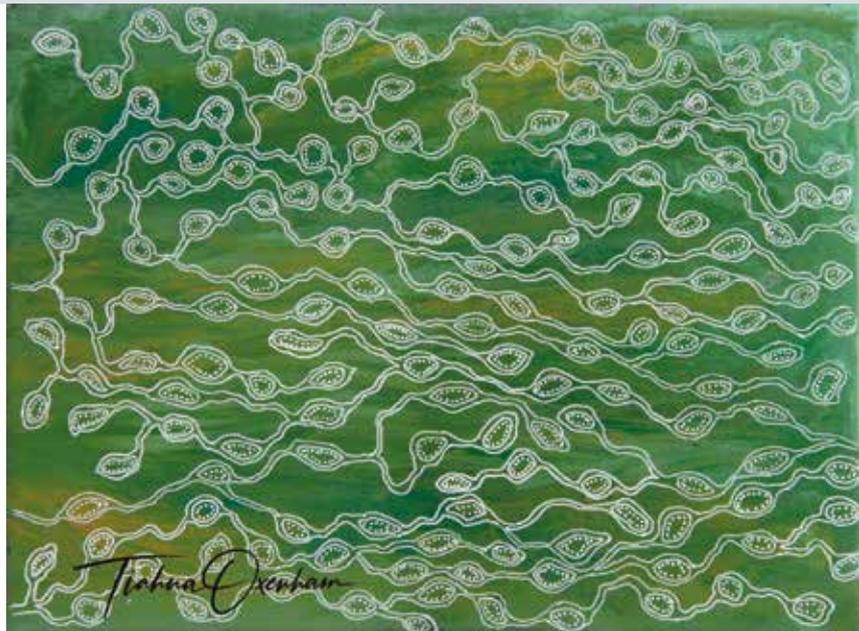

Seagrasses do not have stomata – the pores in the leaves that regulate gas transfer and water loss through epidermal cells in terrestrial plants.

Wirriya Jalyanu Festival poster featured Tiahna's ribbon weed (Posidonia) fruit inspired artwork, an acrylic pen on acrylic on canvas (30 x 22.5 cm).

Instead, gas diffuses directly from the sea water through the outer wall of epidermal cells, where most of the chloroplasts are found. Thin-walled mesophyll cells encircle large, dark air-lacunae. They are full of air for gas exchange and give leaves buoyancy, which assists in the synchronous waving or 'monami' of seagrass leaves in response to water movement.

The epidermal cells of wire weed are often brightly coloured pink to purple, with stripes of orange cells giving away the location of vascular bundles. The tightly arranged bundle sheath cells fluoresce golden and encase the vascular tissues – the transport system for critical substances and nutrients that sustain plant life.

The first of four artworks to be completed in this 'seagrass under the microscope' series was included in a portfolio featuring seagrass-inspired artworks by multiple artists at the Wirriya Jalyanu (seagrass) Festival in Denham, Shark Bay on 8 April 2021.

The festival is a celebration of Malgana language, art and science of Shark Bay's seagrass ecosystems. An earlier work inspired by ribbon weed fruit (Posidonia australis) was featured on promotional material for the festival.

Marine Rescue Shark Bay

It has been a quiet month as far as jobs go for the volunteers at Marine Rescue Shark Bay with only a couple of breakdown tows required but there has been plenty going on behind the scenes.

Seven of our members took part in a two day Seamanship training course in Denham with DFES trainers, Simon Miller and Dan Goodlad. This course is part of the training pathway to becoming recognized rescue vessel crews. It teaches the volunteers some of the skills they will use in their roles such as knot tying and rope splicing, vessel berthing and anchoring etc.

Our group was successful in applying for a $1000 grant from the Shire of Shark Bay Community Assistance Grants Fund. The money will be used to purchase a new barbecue for our meetings and social get togethers at the shed. Thanks to the Shire for their generosity.

In other exciting news DFES has announced that Tamala Rose is to be replaced. Their risk assessment for this area has found that we should have a rescue vessel in the 10 to 12 metre size range to safely carry out the types of tasks we are asked to do.

A sub-committee will be formed to work out what type of vessel the group wants to have built. It could be a monohull, catamaran, RHIB style or another air rider like Tamala Rose. The group decides all aspects of the new vessel, so it is quite a lengthy and detailed process. Watch this space for future updates.

Now is a great time to become a Marine Rescue Volunteer. If you would like to get involved call the office on 9948 1376 and ask for an application form. Meet new people, learn new skills and help to keep the boating public safe whilst they are out on the water.

WA Statewide recreational fishing rule changes

Department of Primary Industries and Regional Development

From 1 July 2021 we are introducing new rules for recreational fishing in Western Australia which will help manage potential impacts on demersal finfish due to increased fishing activity.

The changes will have a minimal impact on day trip fishers and are a proactive management response to issues raised by the WA fishing community.

What are the main rule changes?

- Trip limits – the possession limit on a fishing trip is 10kg of finfish fillets from any species, no skin required, plus and additional 10kg of large pelagic species such as mackerel, tuna and shark, stored separately with skin attached.
- The existing possession limit of 20kg of fillets of any species will continue to apply at a person's principal place of residence. The possession limit of 10kg of finfish fillets and one day's bag limit of whole fish; or two days' bag limit of whole fish remains unchanged.
- Passengers on extended live aboard charter tours are exempt from the trip limit and can still accumulate up to 20kg of fillets of any species provided the fish are labelled with the person's full name, the name of the charter boat and the date the tour ended.
- Filleting at sea - the 30cm minimum fillet length for fish filleted at sea has been removed, however, fillets of any species transported or stored at sea must have skin attached for species identification.
- Definition of whole fish - the definition of a whole fish or fish trunk has been amended to allow for large pelagic species to be cut in two pieces and still be considered as one fish for storage and possession limit purposes.
- Release weights – the master of a boat fishing for demersal finfish by line anywhere in the State must be in possession of a release weight, including both recreational and charter skippers. This rule previously only applied in the West Coast Region.

Why have the rules changed?

Demersal finfish are typically long-lived and highly vulnerable to increases in fishing pressure. As a result of COVID-19 related travel restrictions in 2020 and 2021 there has been a significant increase in recreational fishing participation, particularly in the Gascoyne and Pilbara areas. As a result, the community has raised a number of concerns that the additional fishing activity may negatively impact the stocks of slow growing demersal species, such as pink snapper and emperors, in proximity to popular areas.

DPIRD has introduced the new rules to help protect ocean resources and ensure sustainability to maintain quality fishing experiences for current and future generations.

How was the recreational fishing community consulted on these changes?

Peak recreational fishing body Recfishwest consulted with the fishing community and undertook a survey of its members to canvas their views and gauge the level of support for various management changes. In addition to the survey, multiple reports were received through various channels from community groups.

When will the rules be implemented and reviewed?

DPIRD has reviewed Recfishwest's recommendations and the Minister for Fisheries has approved amendments to the Fish Resources Management Regulations 1995. The new rules will come into effect on 1 July 2021 and will be reviewed after 12 months.

Where can I find out more information about the rules? DPIRD offices can provide advice and copies of the Recreational fishing guide.

Alternatively, you can find more about the rules and other recreational fishing issues from the Department's website – which also has office contact details. If you would like to receive regular updates about recreational fishing rules, research and management, You can also sign up to our recreational fishing e-newsletter Catch!

Some of your questions answered...

Q. If the new rules are to protect demersal species, why can't nearshore species fillets make up my 20kg possession limit, after I've hit my demersal cap of 10kg – mulloway for example. Why can it only be 10kg of pelagic species fillets?

A. The new 10kg fillet possession limit has been introduced as a proactive management response to recent increases in recreational fishing participation across the state resulting from COVID related travel restrictions. The new 'trip limit' is designed to ensure the available catch of all species is shared amongst recreational fishers.

Given there is less sustainability concern for large pelagic species (such as mackerel, tuna and shark), and that fillets of these species are readily identifiable from fillets of other fish species, an allowance of an additional 10kg of fillets has been made. To ensure fisheries officers are able to enforce this allowance, all fillets of large pelagic fish in excess of your initial 10kg trip limit must have the skin attached for identification purposes.

Q. What is a large pelagic finfish?

A. Finfish are categorised according to their aquatic habitat. The complete list of large pelagic finfish, which includes mackerel, tuna and shark is listed in the Recreational fishing guide. You can also find out which species belong to the large pelagic finfish category by visiting the online rules fish.wa.gov.au/rules or on the Recfishwest app.

Q. Can I choose to make up my trip limit of 20kg of fillets with only pelagic fish?

A. Yes, you can. Under the new rules a person can accumulate up to the trip limit of 10kg of fillets of any species (including large pelagic fish), plus an additional 10kg of fillets of large pelagic fish with the skin attached.

Q. If I want to skin my fish before freezing them, when can I remove the skin?

A. Fillets may not be transported at sea with the skin off. Once you reach the mainland, you can remove the skin from up to 10kg of fillets of any species. However, the skin must remain attached to any fillets of large pelagic fish that exceed your 10kg trip limit until you return to your principal place of residence.

Q. I live in a regional area, but want to bring fish back to my family in Perth occasionally. Am I still restricted to only 10kg of demersal fish when travelling to Perth, even though I'm not on a fishing trip?

A. The new 10kg trip limit applies to all fillets stored by a person other than at their principal place of residence. As you are travelling and not at your principal place of residence, you cannot have more than 10kg of demersal fillets per person. 10kg of fillets is still a generous amount of fish for a family, making 50 x 200 gram meals.

Q. What if I catch a big deep-drop demersal like a bass grouper and I get more than 10 kilos of fillets off it? Transporting fish like this whole in good condition is not practical. What am I supposed to do with the excess fillets?

A. When targeting large demersal fish like bass grouper you need to be mindful of the new 10kg trip limit and plan ahead if you choose to fillet your fish prior to returning to your principal place of residence. If you are going to target these large fish, be prepared to share your catch and all stop fishing once each person travelling with you has reached their 10kg trip limit. You don't need to be the person who caught the fish to be in possession of a 10kg trip limit of fillets.

Q. If I am staying for an extended stay in a static caravan for a number of months, does that count as my "place of residence", allowing me to have more than 10kg of demersal fillets in my possession limit?

A. No – your 'principal place of residence' does not include a stay in a caravan, tent, vehicle or boat. Therefore the trip limit of 10kg of finfish would still apply.

Q. How is DPIRD going to monitor the change in recreational catch since COVID travel restrictions to inform the review of these rules after 12 months?

A. DPIRD is currently undertaking a 12 month survey of recreational boat based fishing across Western Australia. The results of this survey will be available in early 2022 and will be compared against previous surveys, as well as current fisheries management strategies. DPIRD will consider the outcomes of this process in consultation with Recfishwest, when reviewing future management requirements.

Q. Do these rule changes just apply to the North of the State?

A. No – the new rules apply on a state-wide basis.

Q. What evidence do we have to support the anecdotal reports of increased fishing?

A. Reports from regional towns have indicated that accommodation has been fully booked outside of the usual peak holiday periods, tackle stores are experiencing record sales and greater than average levels of offal are requiring disposal at local fish cleaning stations.

This anecdotal evidence of increased fishing effort is supported by DPIRD's quantifiable data as follows:

- During 2020/21 there was a significant increase in the number of recreational fishing licences issued.
- Boat ramp camera data indicates a significant increase in the number of boat launches at key boat ramps throughout this period, compared to previous years, in particular in the West Coast, Gascoyne and Pilbara regions.

Q. What is DPIRD doing at a fisheries management level to address the shark bite-off problem – given it could be argued it's a bigger sustainability threat to demersal fish stocks than increased domestic tourism?

A. There are a number of contributing factors likely to be associated with the increasing reports of shark bite-offs (or depredation) and therefore the development of suitable mitigation measures is complex. Accordingly, a number of projects are currently being undertaken by DPIRD to better understand and address shark depredation across the State. These projects include a Recreational Fishing Initiatives Fund (RFIF) study to identify and test mitigation strategies and the effectiveness of shark deterrent devices that use acoustic, electronic or electromagnetic technologies. A series of presentations on the results of the RFIF project are being held in regional areas in the north-west of the State and Perth in mid-2021. Any measures designed to reduce depredation need to be considered in the context of the overall shark resource in order to avoid potential unintended sustainability impacts. This includes recognising that the status of some of the shark species believed to be involved in depredation are currently in recovery or listed as protected species.

Shark Bay Speedway Club

Carnarvon 5th & 6th June

Speedway racers, fans and vollies have had a busy month here at the Shark Bay Speedway Club for the month of July with 3 race meets across Denham and Carnarvon keeping our team enthused. The Northwest Championships were held in Carnarvon over 2 nights during the WA Day long weekend, a race meet the equivalent if not bigger than our Far Western Championships. A large group represented our Club and competed over the weekend as some of the states best competed.

Starting with our juniors, 5 competed and all did exceptionally well considering the talent amongst the fields. Bodhi Garner wasn't scared to give it a crack as he competed for the first time in Carnarvon and at his second ever race meet. Driving incredibly well and holding his line as any new driver is taught, Bodhi was involved in a few spin outs and incidents, none being at his own fault. A bit exciting for the spectators, which was all caught on camera by our very own junior race mums!

Kaylee Francis, continues to improve at every race meet, gaining speed, momentum and car handling techniques. She is known amongst the kids and her fans for turn 2, which has now been titled Kaylee's corner. Cheeks only ever spins out on turn 2, not sure why but its her sweet spot that proves a challenge every now and then. Nothing she can't master in time!

Tayla Burton continues to push her little white corolla to extremes, which unfortunately we can see is going to cost us more money sooner rather than later as she needs a faster car. Tay Tay came away from the weekend with 2 seconds, 3 thirds and unfortunately her biggest regional competitor Archie Root caught her in the feature so she finished 4th. All our New stars came away from a Blue Ribboned event smiling and cars undamaged!

Our top star juniors were represented by none other than Ella Ricetti and Beau Morgan. Considering there was a extremely competitive field of drivers recently returned from the Juniors State Titles in Karratha, both drivers proved they are worthy and will continue to turn heads as they improve.

Michael Ricetti represented and made his presence known in the modifieds with a field of quality drivers. He has settled in comfortably after making the switch from racing stockies, and continues to get better every race.

Mick Reynolds continues to impress as he piloted his sprint car to 2 dominant heat wins on the first night and strong heats on the second that saw him start out of 7th for the feature.

Shark Bay Club meet – 12th June

We welcomed our 2nd race meet in the Bay for our race season and around 35 cars to some magic weather in the Bay on the 12th. Brian Child and Daniel-Ryan Van-Esch debuted in the production division, both giving it a crack for the Production Perpetual Trophy day and competing against the 2019 Junior National Champion Mitchell Baker and his older brother Ashley Baker. Local Ryan Allan did his best to give the Baker boys a run for their money but couldn't quite catch the blue and yellow cars as they manoeuvred professionally around cars on the track. A big thanks to the Department of Regional Development and Primary Industries – Gascoyne Development Commission for sponsoring this race division for the day.

Also our Club welcomed the Street Stocks Perpetual Trophy day on the 12th sponsored by Des and Beate Matthews at the Heritage Resort. A popular local division however only 4 cars were racing by the end with our Club vice president Greg Hewitt taking out 4th place. Greg's a clean and impressive driver to watch so keep your eyes out at the Far Western for the green machine, car number 17.

Only 3 modifieds hit the track with Dave Harrower and Jimmy McGiveron testing out their recently purchased cars against the newly built Michael Ricetti weapon. For the majority of racing the cars spaced themselves out a little so they could test their motors and how the car handles on our dirt track in preparation for our Far Western event in July.

Mick Reynolds struggled with his sprint car as it dropped a drive shaft so unfortunately that put an end to sprint car racing that day.

The 5 juniors mentioned earlier all competed plus local Brody Child in New Stars. What was impressive to note was Beau Morgan had a few issues with his car which saw him roll onto the track for heat 1 only in first gear due to gearbox issues, so off they went and came back out in the feature after a gearbox change.

Lastly we just want to thank the juniors for stepping up and cooking the free sausage sizzle after the event. Everyone was so impressed with your team work and the effort put in by both local and visiting juniors that we have decided to continue this tradition and will have our energetic juniors cook after all race meets, to help out our volunteers. Little legends!

Rec Centre, Kindy Gym & Bub's Sanity Saver

Kindy Gym Fundraiser at the Fishing Fiesta

Raised $677.85! Funds will go towards our end of year party, equipment and activities for the kids at the Rec Centre.

It was a bittersweet day on Tuesday the 15th June. Xavier Harrower turned 4 and celebrated by bringing along a very cool cake to share. Happy Birthday Xave! Sadly we shared some morning tea for the last time at Kindy Gym with Chelsea and George who are leaving for Red Dog country. We will miss this beautiful family and wish them all the very best on their new adventures.

School Holidays

During the school holidays we will pause our weekly kindy gym and bubs sanity saver sessions. Instead families are encouraged to come along to our open courts sessions at the Recreation Centre between 9am - 4pm on weekday.

There will be daily craft activities as well as food and drink options in the kiosk. Children under 7 years of age are required to be supervised by an adult at all times. As it's a busy time in the Bay we encourage parents and guardians to remind their children to place their personal items in a safe and secure location at the Recreation Centre and around town.

NUTRITION MYTH

Myth: Frozen and tinned fruit and vegetables are not as healthy as fresh produce.

Fact: Frozen and tinned fruit and vegetables are as healthy as fresh produce. Research shows that vitamins and minerals are well preserved in frozen and tinned fruit and vegetables, and they should be included as part of a healthy diet. They can be a great option when running low on fresh produce, when camping, or to increase variety when meal-planning. Choose "no added sodium" options when purchasing tinned vegetables and "in natural juice" when purchasing tinned fruit.

SES Shark Bay

Unit Update

It's been rather quiet at our unit of late however we have still been assisting our neighbouring Shire's with personnel for continuing clean up duties from Cyclone Seroja. A big thanks to all and especially Terry, for making himself available to head down to Kalbarri on numerous occasions. He is now a master at securing property roofs with tarps and rope systems, so we look forward to his training sessions upskilling our unit in the coming months.

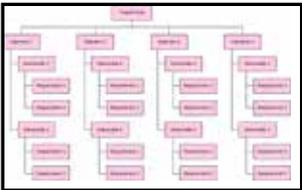

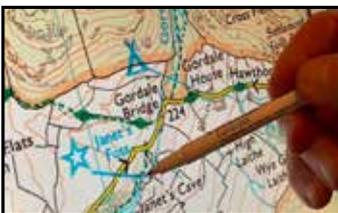

Our most recent call out was to assist with the bush fire along Denham Road. We were stood down quickly as the local Shire, volunteer fire brigade and Parks and Wildlife team had the incident well and truly under control. We thank everyone for their patience as roads were closed due to visibility issues caused from the smoke, as the fire and flames could easily be seen from Denham Road. A subtle reminder that incidents of all nature can occur in our community at any time, so volunteers with all capabilities are essential and needed by all groups.
