Executive Officer's Report

Keeping up with the cost of living

Times are tough for many Western Australians right now, so lots of households will be looking at ways to manage their rising living costs and keep on top of bills.

To help consumers manage their living expenses, the Australian Securities and Investment Commission's (ASIC) Moneysmart service has developed a cost of living 'hub' on its website.

The hub contains information to help consumers make a plan, including how to prepare a budget to track where money is spent, prioritise what matters most and identify any expenses that can be reduced.

With interest rates on the rise, some consumers may be concerned about meeting their mortgage repayments. Taking action straight away can stop a small problem from becoming a big one, so these consumers are urged to talk to their lender as soon as possible. The hub talks through the steps to apply for a financial hardship variation, which may involve changing the loan's terms, or temporarily pausing or reducing repayments.

Financial hardship assistance may also be available for those struggling to pay their rent, utility bills, credit cards, loans and insurance premiums, so these consumers are also advised to contact their providers sooner rather than later to discuss possible options.

Further advice is provided on how consumers can save for an emergency fund to cover urgent or unexpected costs for things like car repairs, unexpected travel or an urgent medical bill.

For those living on a low income, the hub provides guidance on what financial support is available, as well as exploring practical ways to manage costs, such as automating regular bill payments and paying large bills in smaller instalments.

Consumers needing help to get debt under control and their finances back on track can talk to a financial counsellor, who can help prioritise bills and repayments. The National Debt Helpline provides a free, confidential financial counselling service on 1800 007 007.

There is also advice on where to turn in a crisis for help with food, housing, bills and emergency support, plus a reminder that help is available via Beyond Blue on 1300 22 46 36 if financial stress is impacting on mental health. Basketball for high schoolers

During the school holidays our regular Wednesday night basketball experienced the inundation of high schoolers returning from boarding school wishing to participate in this adults only weekly session. To accommodate their needs, and continue to offer adults their own competition, our Recreation Centre team held a one off competition welcoming any high schooler. This event was incredibly popular and welcomed 22 children and 10 adults. Lucky for us, a visiting family consisting of a basketball umpire was present and more than willing to offer his services so the kids could have some competitive fun. We will definitely run these games during future school holiday periods.

BAITING TO PROTECT NATIVE WILDLIFE

Under the Parks and Wildlife Service's Western Shield program, baiting to control foxes and feral cats occurs on more than three million hectares of conservation lands in Western Australia.

The baits used are toxic to introduced animals but not to native animals which have an evolved tolerance to the active compound (1080). All baited areas are signposted.

Baiting occurs on a regular and ongoing basis to protect endangered native animals including the numbat, western ground parrot and western swamp tortoise.

 Attention pet owners: these baits will kill domestic dogs and cats. Baited areas must be considered dangerous for pet dogs and cats at all times.

For more information and maps on areas baited under Western Shield visit dbca.wa.gov.au/westernshield or contact your local Parks and Wildlife Service district office.

Western Shield is generously sponsored by Alcoa, Tronox and Western Areas.

A Total Eclipse of the Moon! Coming to Your Skies 8th November!

For natural cosmic phenomena, you don't get more remarkable than a Total Lunar Eclipse! A total lunar eclipse occurs, when the Sun and Moon are perfectly aligned in their orbits, with the Earth in the middle. As the Moon travels around the far side of the Earth, it passes directly into the shadow of the Earth.

Why does the Moon turn Red?

To add to the magic of it all, the Moon turns a coppery-red during a total eclipse, earning it the nickname of 'Blood Moon'. As the Moon passes into the full shadow of the Earth, called the umbra, the Sun's light passes through the atmosphere of our planet and is scattered, losing most of the blue light. This means that the light that reaches the lunar surface is predominantly red in colour. This effect is known as Rayleigh Scattering and this is also how our sunsets are created.

When to look?

From 7.00pm to 8.50pm, 8th of November.

Which direction to look?

In WA, the Moon will rise, mid-eclipse, starting low in the eastern horizon.

Enjoy the magical transformation of the bright full Moon into a slowly darkening coppery ball, hanging mysteriously in space.

Public School Review Report

We have received our 2022 Public School Review Report which validates our ongoing commitment to excellence and continual improvement. Key findings:

The school recognizes the value of establishing strong connections from Kindergarten to secondary education programs. It pays particular attention to the interests and values of the local community. Staff, students, parents and community partners participated in conversations throughout the validation visit. Students impressed with their knowledge and understanding of what makes a good school. Students value the care shown by staff. The school builds relationships with external and allied agencies providing a rich vein of extra-curricular experiences. There is deep and profound respect for local Aboriginal culture and history which permeates all levels of school activity.

There are strong overtones of student care, inclusion and acceptance of difference demonstrated by staff and students. A comprehensive school behaviour policy, in combination with a restorative 'script', underscore the calm and respectful relationships that have been generated between staff and students. There is clear evidence of professionally trusting relationships modelled by the Principal. This builds collegiate and collaborative interactions between staff, who are united in their efforts for ongoing school improvement and success. The school has effective processes to ensure that expenditure is responsive to the needs of students. The high quality building infrastructure has been carefully managed to ensure there is a strong sense of belonging and care for students.

Pedagogical change has been progressively introduced in a timely and strategic manner. This ensures staff can adapt their teaching practices to deliver coherent curriculum content, underpinned by a healthy regard for the impact of data. There is robust analysis and reflection of data, resulting in targeted interventions across all year levels. Individual student data profiles create valuable student monitoring and transition planning from year to year.

Full copies of the Report are available from Reception.

National Quality Standard

In addition to the Public School Review Process, schools are assessed with regard to their Early Years services under the National Quality System (NQS). Shark Bay School has completed the audit process and welcomed visiting reviewers on Wednesday 26th October.

National School Opinion Survey (NSOS)

Another aspect of our school's self-reflection and continual aspiration to improve is the NSOS, which we run annually. Unfortunately, the response rate this year was quite low, restricting meaningful data analysis, but the parental feedback that was received, was very positive and encouraging of the school's efforts. We thank everyone who participated, and ideas and suggestions will be used to add value to planning. Many thanks to all the staff, Council and P&C members and parents who contributed to our school assessment and improvement processes this year.

Midwest Region Recognition of Excellence 2022

Our staff team was pleased to nominate Miss Hanna Parsons, our full-time Early Years teacher, for recognition of excellence to be published in the Midwest Times. Hanna's colleagues recognize that, as the only full-time team member in our wonderful but complex Early Years block, Hanna's role extends beyond teaching to co-ordinating and leading planning with colleagues, visiting professionals and parents to optimize support for students and to leading the team's reflective practice for improvement. Hanna seems to thrive on being busy and we all appreciate her tremendous professionalism and dedication to the students. 'Caring' about both student achievement and well-being is recognized as a strength in our school and Hanna is a wonderful example of that commitment in our staff. Thank you, Hanna, and congratulations!

Year 6 Student Leaders

Our Year 6 Leaders take their role seriously in supporting other students and it is great to see them modelling their 2022 Leavers' Shirts. Thanks, Conor, Adriana and Myah!

World Teachers' Day

World Teachers' Day World Teachers' Day 2022 is celebrated across Australia on Friday 28 October. It's a chance to recognise and thank over 21,000 teachers who work in our public schools. Despite the challenges of last year, teachers bring their best to work and continue to put their students first. Teachers play an important role in our community and we thank them for their passion and dedication to inspire children and young people.

At Shark Bay School our team of teachers works side by side with the rest of our team to ensure best practice is implemented with the special Shark Bay 'caring' touch.

Happy World Teachers' Day!

UNESCO eDNA excursion

We were delighted for our Year 6 students and lower secondary students to have an opportunity to participate in a study using eDNA sampling to measure marine biodiversity and the impacts of climate change on the distribution patterns of marine life in our UNESCO World Heritage area. We were invited to participate in this internationally significant work by Jay Hayes, Marine Park Coordinator and Dr Therese Morris, World Heritage Project Officer and a group of specialist international scientists in this UNESCO project. We were the first school in the world to be able to be involved and our students had a wonderful morning. Our students were interviewed on film for the UNESCO project.

Constable Care incursions

We were glad to welcome the Constable Care Foundation team on Thursday 20 October, delivering sessions for our Year 3-6 students (Frenemies) and for our K-2 students (Making the Right Call). The sessions provide information and strategies to assist students in keeping themselves and others physically and mentally safe and well, complementing health and wellbeing programs run in school.

SIDE teacher and coordinator visits

We continue to benefit from onsite visits from SIDE staff to our high school students, which is a valuable support to students' online learning.

School Council and P&C

Our Council is holding the Annual General Meeting on Wednesday 30th November in the school Library. All parents and carers are very welcome to attend. The AGM is the meeting that 'wraps up' the school year, with a report on our achievements and goals for 2023.

Our P&C is busy planning for this term's events, including an innovation this year – our End of Year Concert will be held in the afternoon, followed by fun activities for all the family. If you are new to the school/town and interested in supporting the P&C, please pop into Reception to find out more. The P&C plays a huge role in enhancing the community feel of our school and the special events we enjoy together.

Feedback from a town visitor

We were delighted to receive a card and photo identifying Connor and Levi P from Margaret F, a lady from Victoria who had visited Denham and met the boys in the town. She wrote to the school to say she had been fortunate to meet the two boys, who had chatted to her and shown her the seal under the pier, and told her the town's history.

She said 'They were wonderful ambassadors for your town and did your school proud. I just wanted to acknowledge their kindness and thank them for a lovely memory'.

Over the holiday period the Denham team issued six infringement notices ranging from $200 to $500 for offences relating to the possession of undersize blackspot tusk fish, undersize pink snapper, undersize tarwhine and excess bag limit of school mackerel and mud whelk shells as well as three written warnings for undersize blue swimmer crabs, undersize tarwhine and lobsters that had the head removed. This is a good time to remind fishers to take care to release undersize fish immediately with as little harm as possible and to be familiar with the fishing rules before going fishing.

On Friday the 7th of October Fisheries Officers from Denham and Carnarvon teamed up to conduct a roadside checkpoint at Overlander Roadhouse which intercepted travellers travelling from Shark Bay, Carnarvon, Coral Bay, Exmouth and the Pilbara. During this operation Fisheries Officers spoke to 675 travellers and inspected over 40 vessels that were heading south. A focus of this operation was to verify fin fish possession limits and we were pleased to see all travellers were abiding by the possession limit rules on this day. However, one infringement was issued for undersize tusk fish and a warning issued for lobsters with the head removed that were identified as a result of the roadside checkpoint.

Jack Dawson, local Supervising Fisheries & Marine Officer

Into balloon fishing?

The new Environmental Protection (Prohibited Plastics and Balloons) Regulations 2018 state that it is an offence to release a balloon into the air.

This new regulation aims to prevent plastics from entering the environment where they can be ingested by wildlife, break down into microplastics, and pollute our land and waterways.

Although balloon fishing is not illegal, the regulations will apply if the balloon is released either intentionally, by cutting it loose, or otherwise and the balloon tie to the main line breaks.

If you see a potential breach of these regulations or would like further information, contact the Department of Water and Environmental Regulation at plastic-action@dwer.wa.gov.au

Report wrong practices

Seen someone try to flog recreationally caught crays on Facebook Marketplace? Dumping Nemo in the local river? Thinking bag limits are just a suggestion?

For those who follow the rules to ensure we have fish for the future, there's nothing more frustrating than seeing someone engaging in selfish and illegal behaviour.

This can include exceeding bag or possession limits, fishing in closed areas, using excessive amounts of gear or using illegal nets.

You can now report illegal fishers to our compliance officers, direct from your favourite fishing spot, using @CrimeStoppers online.

Past reports made to FishWatch have resulted in successful apprehensions, so by reporting to FishWatch you're helping to protect our valuable fisheries and aquatic resources.

Please note car and boat regos as well as dates, times and locations and provide specific details on what you saw.

Happiness through play and art - "Go for 2&5 Children's Week"

Childrens Week 2022 in Shark Bay was supported by Healthway, Lotterywest and The Department of Communities through Meerilinga as we were able to host a happiness through play and art day at our local Recreation Centre. We greatly appreciate the support offered by all the funding providers to ensure our children are recognised and can enjoy a special day designed just for them.

On Saturday 22nd October the Recreation Centre came to life in the morning as we welcomed 33 children and their families of 21 adults. Everyone reported they enjoyed the free event as they participated in a array of activities. These included;

- nerf gun challenges supervised by Judy
- Bec did an amazing job handling the inflatable soccer games
- Natt kept everything running smoothly with her craft activities which included making fruit out of play dough,

a popular activity welcoming both adults and children

- Katie had fun helping and watching the children use air dry clay, decorations and paint as they designed their own unusual, artistic and creative self portraits.

To conclude the event we had on offer a large amount of scrumptious healthy food options consisting of fruit and vegetables and juice boxes.

Many thanks to Miss Bec, Katie, Natt, Jamie, Judy, Shark Bay Youth Group, Shire of Shark Bay us at the Shark Bay Community Resource Centre and our grant sponsors - Healthway, Lotterywest and The Department of Communities through Meerilinga for allowing us to host this successful event.

Cancer Council WA

National Cervical Screening Program (NCSP)

As of 1st July 2022, all women, and people with a cervix under the National Cervical Screening Program (NCSP) can collect their own sample for cervical screening. The change gives participants a choice in screening method – either clinician-collected or self-collected. Universal access to self-collection has the potential to mitigate some of the cultural and personal barriers that may discourage some people from screening.

There are now two options for your Cervical Screening Test.

You can now choose to:

- Collect your own sample; or
- Have a healthcare provider collect your sample.

Discuss your cervical screening options with a healthcare provider.

October was Breast Cancer Awareness Month

Women spend so much time looking after others that we forget about ourselves. Make sure you look out for breast cancer symptoms to be around longer for your family.

In 2019, 1,890 females in WA were diagnosed with breast cancer, accounting for almost a third of all female cancer cases, and sadly 252 women in WA died from the disease.

Everyone's breasts are different. It is important that you get to know what your breasts look and feel like. If you notice pain or discomfort, a lump or hard area in your breast or underarm, or a change in the breast's size, shape, look or feel, it's important to tell your doctor, clinic nurse or Aboriginal health worker straight away.

Visit <https://bit.ly/3UcN7TM> to learn about other breast cancer symptoms to look out for.

Get Online Week 2022

Congratulations to everyone that came in to collect a prize during Get Online Week (17-23 October 2022)! The Shark Bay Community Resource Centre was fortunate enough to receive a generous grant provided by the Good Foundation Australia this year to help with promoting digital inclusion in the community. This gave us the opportunity to purchase some great prizes to give away as reward for conquering the use of QR codes.

Posters around town shared our individual QR code and instructions on how to scan the code, which took the user to our updated website. They were then instructed to answer the question "what do the letters Q and R stand for in QR code?" For those that answered correctly (Quick Response) they were treated to a bag full of goodies to be collected from the team at the SBCRC.

As part of the week, I visited the Friendly Hub loaded up with tech advice and prize bags to give out to those that wanted to participate. The prizes included Bluetooth Bamboo Speakers and Laser Engraved USB/USB-C storage devices, plus some great advice from the Good Foundation and Be Connected network.

Get Online Week also coincided with our final Tech Time workshop for the year. Next year we will hope to bring back our basic tech workshops in collaboration with the Friendly Hub.

Don't pay for consumer complaint service when it's available for free

- Concern that consumers are paying for freely available services and information
- Fee-charging consumer and tenant advocates are advertising on social media
- $5 million in redress achieved mostly in areas of retail, travel and motor vehicles

WA consumers who pay for complaint conciliation services promoted by people via social media pages and advertisements are paying for a service that is available for free.

One of the main functions of Consumer Protection is to offer a free conciliation service for consumers who are in dispute with a trader, with the aim of resolving the complaint mostly by getting a full or partial refund paid.

In 2021-2022, about 2,000 WA consumers received redress totalling more than $5 million and, in the previous financial year, about 2,800 consumers were returned almost $7.5 million. The successful resolutions mostly related to the areas of retail, travel and motor vehicles.

Commissioner for Consumer Protection Gary Newcombe said he is concerned that consumers who are not aware of this free service may end up paying for a private advocate who doesn't have the necessary knowledge or experience.

"It has come to our notice that some people are promoting consumer and tenancy advocacy services via social media and charge a fee when they don't have the experience or track record that we have," Mr Newcombe said.

"While this is not illegal, consumers need to be aware that these same services are offered by Consumer Protection at no cost to the complainant and we have a high success rate in achieving a resolution, usually in the form of a refund. We also have the power to enforce consumer laws in WA and ensure that consumer guarantees are met.

"As regulators of the Australian Consumer Law and other legislation in WA, it's important that we are aware of any bad behaviour by traders and can take legal action if the situation warrants it. This is not something a private advocate can do.

"There are also tenant advocates on social media who may not have full knowledge of tenancy laws in WA or the necessary skills to delicately and amicably resolve disputes with landlords or agents, particularly in the current tight rental market.

"So consumers and tenants may be putting themselves at risk by dealing with possibly inexperienced and unqualified private advocates. It also doesn't make sense to pay for a service that is already offered for free."

There are also many websites that charge a fee to do an online search for information, often from government agencies, that is publicly available for free or at a much lower cost. For example:

- Vehicle registration status checks and expiry reminders are services that are offered at no cost by the WA Department of Transport via their DoTDirect online services;

- Fuel price information is available to WA motorists at no charge on the FuelWatch website;
- The Personal Property Securities Register (PPSR), formerly known as REVS Checks, provides information on a used car such as whether there is any money owing on it, if it has been written off or stolen. Low fees start from two dollars, but there are many third party sites that charge much more for the same results;
- Finding lost or unclaimed superannuation is free on the Australian Taxation Office website or via a MyGov account.

Consumer and tenant complaints can be lodged online via the Consumer Protection website, or enquiries can be made by email consumer@dmirs.wa.gov.au or by calling 1300 30 40 54.

Renters experiencing financial difficulty

As living costs rise, many tenants may find themselves in a difficult financial position and struggle to pay rent.

We urge tenants who miss (or expect to miss) a rental payment to explain their situation to their landlord or real estate agent as soon as possible to hopefully avoid stressful breach notices, potential court action and even eviction.

A landlord might agree to a rent reduction for a period of time, waive a payment or agree to defer payment over a longer timeframe while you get back on your feet.

Your landlord's willingness to help may depend on their own financial position and whether you've been a responsible tenant, however it could be in their interest to negotiate a solution.

In shared tenancies, the landlord might let you assign the agreement to a replacement co-tenant, or allow you to sub-let the property to another tenant to help share the cost. It is wise to avoid pay-day loans or buy now pay later schemes to pay your rent. They might look like an easy way out, but can make a difficult financial situation worse.

If you have a periodic tenancy, you can provide 21 days' written notice to terminate the agreement. Remember that it is usually easier to move from one rental into another, rather than try to find a new tenancy once court action or an eviction process has commenced.

Should you fail to pay rent, a landlord can either issue a breach notice requiring you to pay the outstanding amount in 14 days, or a termination notice giving you seven days to vacate. A landlord cannot force you out of a property by changing the locks or tampering with the water and power supply.

If you don't pay all rent owing by the due date and don't move out, the landlord must apply to the Magistrates Court for an order to vacate. A tenant can ask the magistrate to delay the termination for 30 days if they're likely to suffer hardship (such as being unable to find other accommodation).

More information on housing stress is on our website at www.consumerprotection.wa.gov.au or contact us on 1300 30 40 54 or consumer@dmirs.wa.gov.au

We visited Headspace, went to the movies, went fishing at the Chapman Valley Fishing Farm, had lunch in Dongara, challenged each other at combat Archery and completed 11 Archery targets at the Dongara Activity Park, had a great meal at the Hogs Breath Café and abseiled 25m and 35m walls in the Kalbarri National Park with Kalbarri Abseil.

A BIG THANK YOU TO Janet Court and Julie Robins for coming along and helping Supervise.

Youth were exceptional and we had numerous tour guides comment on the positive behaviour, attitude and politeness of our group. Well done to all our youth!

Shark Bay SES

That time of the year has come around again, cyclone season. The season runs from November to April. While we cannot predict exactly when a cyclone will occur, you can be prepared for one. Have a look at the checklists on this page and begin to get organised. It's better to be over prepared than under prepared.

More information can be found on the DFES website - <https://www.dfes.wa.gov.au/>

The Shark Bay SES Unit assists in cyclones, floods and searches amongst other activities. If you feel you have the community spirit to help out in Denham and the surrounds, we are always looking for volunteers. We train on a Monday from 5pm, at the Emergency Services Precinct on Durlacher Street, Denham. Come on down and say 'Hi!'

Emergency kit

You and your family need an emergency kit to survive in a cyclone, whether you decide to shelter at home or relocate to a safer place.

People who have prepared an emergency kit before the cyclone season increase their chances of survival for themselves, their families and their pets.

Your emergency kit needs to include:

- A waterproof bag containing important documents like passports, ID and insurance documents.
- Drinking water – at least 12 litres per person.
- Canned food – enough for 4 days.
- Portable, battery operated AM/FM radio.
- A can opener, cooking gear and eating utensils.
- Waterproof torch.
- Portable gas stove or BBQ.
- New, spare batteries.
- Container for storing washing and cooking water.
- First aid kit with manual.
- Medications, toiletries and sanitary supplies.
- Special requirements for infants, elderly, injured and disabled people, and pets.
- Mobile phone and charger (or phone card).
- Cash and bank cards.
- Emergency contact numbers.
- Spare house and car keys.

If you decide to relocate you need to add in:

- Sleeping bags, blankets and towels.
- Waterproof ponchos.
- Spare clothing.
- Tent or tarpaulin.
- Pen and paper.
- Books, playing cards or games.

Marine Rescue Shark Bay

Marine Rescue Shark Bays trailer vessel "Cape Rose" has been called upon for a couple of recovery tows out of Monkey Mia during October. Members also towed her to Nanga for an overnight stop at the start of the school holidays. Lots of kids and adults came aboard for a close-up look of "Cape Rose" followed by a lifejacket maintenance clinic thanks to DoT and a Q & A session with our local Fisheries Officers. The following morning was a beach launch, recovery exercise and a safe route passage planning tour of the nearby islands and coastline.

Our AGM is to be held on Sunday the 13th of November, 5.30pm at the shed in Durlacher Street with a barbecue to follow. All members and their families as well as anyone else who may be interested in joining the group are invited to attend.

Congratulations to our colleagues from Jurien Bay who have been recognised by the International Maritime Rescue Federation for their dramatic rescue of five people off the coast of Jurien Bay last year.

Chrissy Heu and Michael Cockburn were runners-up for their outstanding efforts in treacherous conditions, responding after a yacht had struck Boiler Reef and the occupants were thrown into the water. A man and his eleven year old daughter who had a broken leg had tried to swim ashore and spent four hours in the water before being located.

The awards recognise volunteer and professional search-and-rescue personnel from around the world who have shown excellence in their field. It is the first time any marine group from WA has been honoured at these awards.

Rescue groups and their dedicated volunteers are a vital part of coastal communities in Western Australia. We are well resourced and trained thanks to funding from the State Government and DFES through the Emergency Services Levy that all property owners pay as part of their annual rates.

Pharmacy Assistant Positions Available

– Shark Bay Pharmacy

Are you a passionate and highly skilled retail worker with an interest in healthcare? Shark Bay Pharmacy is looking for a hard working pharmacy assistant with exceptional customer service skills. Part time casual position for immediate start.

Why Shark Bay Pharmacy?

Shark Bay Pharmacy is a remote pharmacy and therefore provides unique services to both the local community and tourist populations. Due to our location our customers rely on us to provide high-quality, accessible community based health care services and programs. As our services often require liaising with outside agencies from across Australia excellent communication skills are a key requirement. We are excited and passionate about our role in the community and the services we provide.

Pharmacy Assistant - Position Description

A pharmacy assistant is often the first port of call when customers come into a pharmacy. You will be responsible for sales, top level customer service and giving advice on over the counter medicines where appropriate. You will also be required to merchandise, submit orders and speak with sales representatives where necessary. Training will be provided to further knowledge on scheduled medications.

What's required to be a Pharmacy Assistant?

We're looking for someone with great attention to detail and an eye for merchandising. You will need strong communication skills and an ability to execute exceptional customer service on a consistent basis. A pharmacy assistant should have experience working as part of a team. Having to perform various time sensitive tasks as part of the role means being able to multitask is a must. Finally, you must understand the confidential nature of working in health care and be able to uphold this agreement at all times.

Please drop off your resume to Shark Bay Pharmacy. Alternatively email to manager.sbpharmacy@gmail.com

For more information please call Malcolm 0422 507 503.

Living with History

Horse Traders

Jim Lee Chung was an old friend of my little mate Fred Yee. He ran his own blacksmithing business in Onslow for many years. When old age caught up with him, he retired to Roebourne to live. Being a handy old bloke he earned a few extra bob in various ways, one of which was the making of very sturdy leather sandals which were very popular and sold well. No thongs in those days!

Another of Jim's popular lines was wheel and flint-type cigarette lighters which he made from the brass barrels of old tyre pumps. Jim's own lighter was a huge job that must have held a year's supply of fuel. As the old chap always sat in the front row at the open air pictures, the audience missed quite a bit of the show as they were frequently blinded by the smoke and glare whenever Jim lit up.

Doug, the manager of Warambie Station, was in need of a light draught horse. He heard that Jim owned one that was running on the town common. On his next trip to town, he approached Jim and offered to buy the horse. The old bloke was reluctant to sell and Doug got the impression that the horse was not fit as Jim kept insisting that "he not lookee well". After driving out on the common to have a look at the horse, Doug returned and despite Jim's further protests that "he not lookee too well", insisted on buying the horse. When he arrived home he proudly displayed his bargain to Will the overseer, meanwhile boasting to all and sundry how he had out-witted the wily celestial who insisted that the horse did not look well. Will carefully examined the horse and then turned to Doug. "Old Jim was right you know", he said, "he doesn't look too well. He's only got one flamin' eye."

When one of those honest old Chinese man told you something you had better believe it.

Kid Soldiers

When the '39-'45 war broke out many youngsters put their ages up and attempted to enlist. Quite a few of us were successful. In my unit alone there were five of us who had our sixteenth birthdays overseas. We were lucky in one way. Most of the early intake were sometimes rough but usually decent men who treated us well and kept an eye on us.

After two years service in the Middle East, we were pretty seasoned and able to look after ourselves when we reached New Guinea. By this time in Australia, eighteen year olds were being called up. They had the option of joining AIF or staying in the Militia, but it made no difference. At that time New Guinea was Australian Territory so militia could be sent there.

We early birds mostly came from hard up families and had to battle at an early age. These newcomers were different. They had not had the chance to learn the survival skills that we had. Some of their officers left a lot to be desired also. Despite this, the Militia or "Chocos" as they were known, were the first to face the Japs on the Kukoda Track. Those kids did their share and more.

Country Cop

Bob, the senior policeman in Wittenoom, was a typical country cop. Always cheery and helpful. He had the ability to handle some pretty rough men with the minimum of trouble. Bob had some troubles of his own. His wife had to go south for medical reasons and Bob was left to look after his twelve-year-old daughter.

I often spent an evening at Bob's house, yarning over a beer. One such night we were sitting in the kitchen when a figure appeared at the door. Bob never turned a hair. "Hello George," he said, and "What do you want?". "A drink of water," replied the bloke. "Okay, help yourself," said Bob. Aside, he said to me "I might need a hand here. The last time I saw this bloke, he was locked up for assaulting his wife."

After the chap had his drink, he quietly accompanied us back to the jail where we found he had kicked a sheet of iron out of the wall to escape. Bob got his prisoner to drag his mattress over by the heavy iron barred door. "You'll be right there mate. I'll see you in the morning." Said Bob. When I saw Bob the next day, I asked him how his prisoner was and was he to be charged for breaking out. "No" said Bob, "Too much flaming paerwork. I gave him a hammer and nails and he fixed the cell up okay." As I said before, a typical country cop!

Sadly Bob's daughter died, aged 30, another victim of Wittenoom asbestos. I learned later that Bob's prisoner was what was known as a "New Australian" and had a history of violence. In those days, if you committed an offence, you went to jail.
